

WHERE THEY WENT

Fairfield residents, thrilling to the holiday spirit, departed for all points of the compass in search of family companionship and healthful relaxation over the Christmas period.

The Harry Leigh family, of Beemera Street, spent an enjoyable two weeks with Harry's parents at Muswellbrook. They evidenced a happy contrast when they returned to the family week-ender, at Terrigal, where the remaining two weeks were spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roberts, Latty Street, took their family to Lake Illawarra where the family anglers and trawlers made large indents into the ranks of the prawns and fish.

Popular Woy Woy was the chosen haven for Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ambrose, Francis Street, and their children.

Popular Cabramatta couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scutter, leave for their holidays to be spent at Lake Illawarra, on January 16.

Local carrier, Bill Morris, relaxed from the trials and tribulations of business life in the company of his family at St. George's Basin where Bill has established a comfortable retreat.

Petite Jean Bolevich, our pleasant office assistant, travelled by plane to Broken Hill where she spent an enjoyable time with her sister, Phyllis.

What could possibly be a more enjoyable holiday than a month at sea on an ocean liner travelling to the land of your birth? This is the happy lot of popular St. John's Park bowler, Bill Woodman, who sailed for the "Old Dart" last week on his first visit home for a number of years. Bon voyage, Bill.

Merimbula, on the deep south coast, has again attracted local sporting enthusiasts Basil Smith and Harry Wilson. A report from a few visitors to the resort has it that both are well and really taxing the capacity of the local fishing co-operative freers.

The "Tubba" Gorst family, of Hunter Street, along with Mrs. Gorst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, senior, of Canley Vale, ents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, senior, of Canley Vale, ents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, holidaying at The Entrance.

It was Christmas away from home for brilliant young local sportsman, Tich Morris, who spent the festive season touring the southern states as a member of the N.S.W. Baseball team.

That popular young engaged couple from Guildford, Robyn Waites and John Garth, travelled to Emmaville to spend Christmas with John's family.

The Norm McWhirter's of Margaret Street, visited Mrs. McWhirter's relatives at Temora.

Local businessmen Bill Woods, and John Waites, took their sons Brian, and John, for a few days camping experience at Lake Illawarra.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Woods, York Street, accompanied by their son Greg, nephew Brian Cassidy, and daughter Lee, travelled to Dubbo to visit friends.

Stan Reid and family, of Harold Street, are holidaying at Narrabeen enjoying the comfort of their new caravan.

Mrs. Anne Martin, and son Robert, of Berwick Street, Guildford, are also spending holidays at Narrabeen.

Noticed among the joy-seekers at Lake Illawarra, brothers Abby and Ron Pugsley and their families.

Charming Fairlight Avenue teenager, Mariene James, spent an invigorating holiday at Surfer's Paradise.

John Johannson, Harris Street, spent two glorious weeks on the Gold Coast, at Coolangatta.

The Jack Ellisons, of Ware Street, took their young family to Greenwell Point where Jack saw that there was always a supply of fish.

Popular man-about-town, Ron Byleveld, spent a portion of his vacation on a tour of the Albury district.

The Bill Bright (junior) family relaxed at the comfortable family holiday cottage at St. George's Basin.

Ken and Fay Morris, of Madeline Street, accompanied by their charming young daughter Wendy, were another family group young daughter Wendy, were another family group who chose The Basin for the rest period.

(Cont. on another page)

WHERE THEY WENT

(Cont. from another page)

Local boys, Lindsay Young and Bill (Tiger) Partington, joined Basil Smith and Harry Wilson at Merimbula, where they gave a helping hand snaring countless dentists of the deep.

Charming youngster, Cheryl Ambrose, spent her birthday (December 23) and Christmas with her parents and brothers prior to returning to Woonona where she is spending the school vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Williams, of Smart Street, accompanied by their young son, Neil, took a motor tour of the west and south west spending a day with Mrs. Williams' sister, Mrs. Audrey Kirkman, at Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert King, Victory Street, spent a pleasant week with their children at Bundeena.

Lansvale and Southern Districts cricket star, Graham Curry, relaxed at Ocean Beach for two weeks.

A return to the home town, Port, provided a happy holiday for Fairfield West identity, Frank Barton.

The festive period was made even more enjoyable for Mr. George Lemon, of Polding Street, when his mother paid him a visit from the country.

Sorting personality, Bob Morris, accompanied by his charming wife, Gloria, and their two children, also spent their vacation at St. George's Basin.

The Don Dawsons, of Cabramatta Road returned to their favourite spot, Geroa, for the Christmas vacation.